

“Over the top, or what!”

You might think that 90bhp for a Cooper S is a bit O.T.T. but wait until you drive it! The engine has been developed to deliver the maximum achievable power whilst maintaining improved torque characteristics and drivability. Buying the 1999 Cooper S works is the best way to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the Mini. It has the full John Cooper interior alloy treatment along with stainless 'engine turned' dash and door cappings, conveying a justifiable sense of racing pedigree. It is available in nine exciting colours and with several options.

To get the full picture, send for the new 1999 24 page full colour brochure, or test drive one for yourself at The John Cooper Mini Cooper Centre in Sussex.

Prices for the new Cooper S works start from £12,495. Buy one for yourself
